SUNDAY MORNING CLASSES FOR ADULTS

World Religions. This class will explore the development and historical significance of the major world religions and their influence on today's geo-political and social-economic structures. We will also explore the world religions that create the greatest and deepest American divides and conflicts. Taught by Rev. Frank Shope in Room 214 at 9:30 and repeated at 10:45 on Sundays from April 23 through May 28.

Marriage Class “WITH.” Jason and Danielle Galloway are leading a new Sunday morning class for married couples called WITH. Married couples are with each other, but are they really WITH each other? Connection is something that takes intentionality and goes beyond proximity. In this 5-session class, you will learn to make the most of your WITH time by tackling some of the challenges that disconnect married couples. In Room 220 at 9:30 on Sundays from April 23 through May 21.

The Art of Thinking Brilliantly. The Sunday School class called Monday Morning Missions, led by Gary Oppedahl, is studying this video series by Graham Cooke. This class will help you partner with God in your thinking about every situation you encounter, and to be curious and not judgmental. Above all, we will learn that Jesus is the starting place. Sundays in Room 221, the Study, at 9:30.
